BONUS: Building a Powerful Presentations "tool kit"

As a leader, there is no getting around it...you need to present. It's impossible to overestimate the role your presentation style plays in the success of your message. What your listeners think of your ideas, your products, and your entire organization, is affected by how they react to you as a presenter.

Whether you are presenting yourself one-on-one; or making a presentation to many, your ability to connect is critical to achieving success. Make a positive first impression – lasting moments.
